with the fact that nearly all the measures they have devised are influenced by culture or other factors that people are always up to inventing' - Bertrand Russell Most people (adults) buy Christmas presents for their loved ones. They also send small gifts to show their affection. Small gifts are ordinary and average, just some small items. Like flowers, chocolates or a piece of jewellery. But there is one special group which do not purchase any, let alone small, gifts. This group is those who are not able to leave their home and not able to attend the Christmas party or any other Christmas activities. They do not buy any gift for their loved ones. We want to start this story at the last minute. Last Shopper is the game where you are the last shopper at a store before it closes. Just 4 easy steps. buy something from the store find an item of choice in the store (not necessary to be a gift) take it to the cashier give the cashier the price and the receipt All you have to do is make sure that the security guard does not tell you otherwise. Finally, here is one example. Hopefully, you do not have to do this one. I bought two socks at the edge of the store. The other socks were not the one I had chosen. The cashier opened the drawer and placed me the socks. He wrote in his register the price and the receipt. He gave me my change. "How much was I supposed to pay for the other sock?" I asked. "The other sock cost $1," he replied. I brought the second sock to the cashier. "This is the one I had chosen," I told him. "But this one costs $2," he said. "Is there anything I can do?" I asked. "You have to pay for the other sock, sir," he replied. "But there is nothing wrong with this other sock!"
