Free Sounds Of India : Free Signals Audio India.Britain would likely face new limits on how much cash it can keep out of circulation due to moves to tax the underground economy, the CBI has warned. The influential business group argues that “untargeted” tax changes could result in businesses and individuals finding it “increasingly difficult to pay employees, and to live”. The warning comes just days after HMRC published its long-awaited report on the underground economy which identified London as a “key financial centre” with 1.15 million dependent businesses employing over 12 million individuals. HMRC said the report would help identify areas where new or improved measures to tackle evasion could be proposed. “Tax evasion is a massive challenge and one that has not been given adequate focus from previous governments,” said Tracy Mairs, HMRC’s director of international policy. “There are areas where the market already works to serve the criminal economy, so the global dimension is very clear. “But there are also areas that maybe were not targeted, which we have identified through this report – like certain types of sales, services or transport that may not have been taxed enough.” The warning over threats to cash comes as Treasury ministers try to back Theresa May’s Withdrawal Agreement with the European Union (EU). Business minister Greg Clark is expected to agree a deal with EU officials at their next meeting on Wednesday to seal a compromise aimed at preventing a so-called “hard” Irish border.
